

BERGER.1.dla

Traditionally, the problem with "making peace in the Middle East" is like the problem with the weather: everybody talks about it but nobody ever DOES anything about it. Well...times are changing. Good morning to ya, I'm Dean Lane, and yer on the Nightside with WTOP.

The 20th Century brought war and conflict to lands which are still holy to the world's three major religions. On September 13th, 1993, Israelis and Palestinians agreed to resolve their disputes by setting a deadline for a final peace. On September 13th of THIS year, they'll reach that deadline.

This morning, we have words from CBS News' Middle East correspondent Robert Berger, who gives WTOP a breakdown of the recent Camp David talks...and explains WHY the talks broke down.

[TAKE SOT

NAME: berger i'view

OUTCUE: ...call the parties back to Washington for yet another summit.

DURATION:2'18"]

CBS News' Middle East correspondent Robert Berger with Nightside producer Dave Smolar on

Camp David 2000. We'll hear more from this interview later this morning...stay with us. Yer on the Nightside...I'm Dean Lane.